

STOP & SHOP, GIANT-LANDOVER AND GIANT-CARLISLE ANNOUNCE
SUPPORT FOR “COMMON VISION” FOR ENVIRONMENTALLY SUSTAINABLE SEAFOOD

As leading grocers in the United States and part of a global organization that makes corporate social responsibility a natural part of doing business, Stop & Shop, Giant-Landover, and Giant-Carlisle, which also operates Martin’s Food Markets, today announced our support for the Conservation Alliance for Seafood Solutions’ Common Vision for Environmentally-Sustainable Seafood.

The Common Vision identifies six critical areas that can make a significant difference in long-term seafood sustainability by establishing guidelines and strengthening collaboration between the retail industry, seafood suppliers and partners such as the New England Aquarium. By supporting the Common Vision, Stop & Shop, Giant-Landover and Giant-Carlisle agree to:

- Develop and implement a comprehensive, corporate policy on sustainable seafood;
- Assess and monitor the environmental sustainability of seafood products;
- Support environmentally-responsible seafood choices through purchasing decisions;
- Make information regarding seafood products publicly available;
- Educate customers, suppliers, associates, and other key stakeholders about environmentally-responsible seafood; and
- Support reforms that lead to positive environmental outcomes in fisheries and aquaculture management.

The announcement underscores our commitment to providing customers with the highest quality seafood available, while at the same time working to protect marine resources in the future. Stop & Shop, Giant-Landover and Giant-Carlisle were three of the first retailers to partner with the New England Aquarium to better understand the issues related to sustainable seafood and receive guidance on purchasing decisions to help ensure that there will be plenty of seafood choices for years to come. By supporting environmentally-responsible and well-managed fisheries and fish farms, our stores can continue to provide high quality seafood today and guarantee the same quality commitment for the future. We believe this collaboration benefits our customers and our natural resources.
